JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1869.

THAT DOUBLE HEADED MESSAGE.

We have already noticed the failure of the Governor to mention and discuss the question as to the term of the present members of the Legislature, whether they were elected for two or four years. That question was so fully discussed and clearly put by a distinguished Republican in an article that appeared some time since in the SENTINEL, that we propose to republish it by way of an answer to the Governor's message, signed "X. Y. Z."

We understand the league met last night to deliberate and act upon the "X. Y. Z." message of the Governor. Whether the Legislature holds for four years or not will depend, not upon the constitution, justice, and the laws, but upon Littlefield, Laflin, French, Chicken Stephens, 1200 dollar Stevens and Cuffy Mayo, in secret night meeting assembled.

Chicken Stephens said at home "he was opposed to it, he did not believe the Legislature had any right to hold over, but he believed they would do so."

We heard a Republican member of the league say, "if they attempted it, "the people ought to rise up and drive them out of the Capitol." We put down Littlefield, Laflin, the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Jim Harris, colored, as favoring it, because Holden wishes to be Senator; "Mars Todd," the Lieutenant Governor, wishes to be Governor, Littlefield, because this Legislature favors his doings, proceedings, and tricks; Laflin, because he can't be re elected, James, surnamed Harris, because he is a friend of Littlefield and the Governor.

Cuffy Mayo, Willie D. Jones, Senator Lassiter, of kildee memory; Chicken and $1200 Stephens, we put down as opposed to holding over, because they can all be re elected, and they know it did not enter the mind of any member or any elector voting for them that they were elected for four years.

It is time, as Mr. Calhoun would say, for Genl. Phil. Hawkins to "define his position" on this question. We put Genl. Phil. down as against holding over, but his opinion is not of much weight at this present writing, as he is an outsider and not allowed to sit with Cuffy Mayo, since Cuffy was acquitted by a Jury of his county for stealing that pistol.

Gen. Phil. has expressed the opinion, however, that it is a question for the Courts to decide. Since the University Railroad case and the chances that the Court can be talked to off the Bench, we should say, with all deference to Gen. Phil., that it is no proper tribunal before whom to bring the question. Let the secret League, at midnight, decide it, but let them take care the people do not overrule their decision.

OMISSION.

The Superintendent of Public Works is an officer created by the Constitution, and whose duties are defined by law, yet the Governor in his message forgets to call his name. If we were on terms with the Governor, we would introduce the Superintendent thus, "Governor, let us introduce to your acquaintance Col. C. B. Harris, the people's Superintendent of Public Works, whom you shall no longer ignore."

The Governor and Superintendent of Public Works have been hunting each other down with injunctions. The Governor relying on Judge Watts, the Judge that adjourned Court when the Grand Jury presented Littlefield, State Printer for attempts to bribe the Legislature; while the Superintendent relied upon Judge Logan, his brother-in-law.

In this omission, the Governor has been guilty of a gross dereliction of constitutional duty.

Hear him in the very first paragraph of his message, "It is made my duty by the Constitution to give the General Assembly, from time to time, information of the affairs of the State."

Why did the Governor withhold information to the General Assembly on the important questions which have arisen between himself and his Superintendent of Public Works? Did he forget it? Has he forgotten how he carried Judge Watts, Laflin and a big supply of whiskey, to the Salisbury meeting? The wicked who sin by omission are apt to sin by commission also.

The new Constitution knows no such officer as Rev. J. W. Hood, Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction; yet the Governor names this black divine as deserving the thanks of the people of the State for his active, patient and faithful discharge of his responsible duties.

Hood is the most respectable carpet bagger in the State. We do not mean to disparage him, but to protest, as he is not an officer of the Constitution, he should not be praised to the disparagement of the Superintendent of Public Works.

During the last fiscal year 760,000,000 of letters passed through the United States mails—forty millions more than during any previous year, and an average of twenty for every man, woman, and child in the land.

THANKSGIVING.—To day being set apart by authority as a day of national thanksgiving to the Great Dispenser of all national as well as individual benefits, we shall, as good citizens, observant of the laws, customs, regulations and recommendations of the "powers that be," cease from labor on this day, and allow our employees to do the same. Consequently no paper will be issued from this office on Friday morning.

Public services will be held in the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist and Episcopal Churches, at the usual hour for morning services; announced by the bells.

We respectfully suggest to merchants and business men generally in the city to close for the day, or at least after 10 o'clock in the morning, that themselves and employees may enjoy the holiday.

A HINT.—We wish somebody would hint to the keeper of the Capitol, or to whoever has the supervision of the matter, that just outside the west gate, and just inside the south gate of the Square, there are sinks in the walkway where the water gathers every time it rains and makes it extremly inconvenient for pedestrians, especially those who wear dainty little gaiter boots, to get over. A little dirt and sand would raise the ground at these points so as to induce the water to turn aside and let persons pass without having to wade.—Won't somebody mention it?

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—At a regular convocation of Raleigh Chapter, No. 10, R. A. M., held in Masonic Hall, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 16th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing Masonic year:

W. G. Hill, H. P.; W. H. Dodd, K.; R. H. Bradley, S.; J. H. Separk, C. of H.; John Nichols, P. S.; A. S. Heids, R. A. C.; A. Betts, G. M. 3rd V.; Wm. Simpson, G. M. 2nd V.; J. C. Blake, G. M. 1st V.; J. G. Williams, Treas'r.; D. W. Bain, Sec'y.; J. M. Betts, Guard.

The Chapter is in a flourishing condition and fine working order, and are having frequent accessions of fine material.

DR. THOMAS H. TURNER having returned to his old home, offers his professional services to the citizens of Hillsboro and vicinity. 3w

We have barely space to call attention to the new advertisements in to-days issue. Read them by all means.

Don't forget the Newcomb Minstrels to-night at Tucker Hall. Sixteen of the best performers in the country compose the troupe.

George Bayline, the escaped murderer from Halifax jail has been captured by a Mr. Gnatney, of Weldon, who gets the $200 reward, offered for his arrest by the Governor.

For the Sentinel.

MR. EDITOR.—Please open upon the Real and Personal Estate Agency to dispose of property by lottery, who have acted as if they intended to swindle. By so doing you will oblige one who took a chance.

If you won't open on them, allow me to do it; I will pay for it as an advertisement; to the amount of tickets I bought in the Lottery.

I want you to open on officers, stockholders and all.

ONE WHO TOOK A CHANCE.

"One who took a chance" has been very patient, but he has not yet exhausted all the peaceable remedies for redress. The Governor has not yet been applied to, to call out the Militia.

"One who took a chance" shall have a chance to be heard in our columns without paying for it, if his grievances are not redressed.

The Shivering Season.

It is impossible to suppose that any human being can consider an attack of Fever and Ague a light visitation. And yet thousands act as if such a calamity was of no consequence; while thousands who are actually suffering from the distressing complaint neglect to adopt the certain means of cure. It ought to be known in every locality subject to this scourge, or which is infested with remittent fever, or any other epidemic produced by malaria, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS taken in advance or at the commencement of the unhealthy season, will fortify the system against the atmospheric poison which generates these distempers. This admirable invigorant—harmless, agreeable, and possessing rarer medicinal virtues than any other tonic at present known, will break up the paroxysms of intermittent or remittent fever in from forty-eight hours to ten days. Such is the universal testimony from districts where periodical fevers have been combatted with this powerful vegetable Chologogue. In a thievish neighborhood wise men bar their doors and windows, yet strange to say if the same neighborhood happens to be pervaded by moral poison they seldom take the trouble to put their bodies in a state of defence against the subtle enemy. Shivering victims endeavoring in vain to warm your blue hands over the fire or consuming with the fever that follows the chill, remember that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is an absolute, speedy and infallible specific for your distressing malady.

BRISTOL, TENN., Oct. 14, 1869.

I had seen by the papers what had been done by the Board of Education in North Carolina and was glad. I had ample reasons for my former recommendations in the use of the books in our schools.

These Books are Used by the Best Schools in the State.

Late Testimonials in Brief.

It affords me great pleasure to bestow on them my heartiest commendation. They are vastly superior to any other books of the kind I have yet seen.—W. H. WEATHERLY, Prin Clas. and Math. School, Elizabeth City, Oct 25, 1869.

Send me ten Davies' Intellectual Arithmetics for introduction. They are superior to any I have seen.—W. F. ENGLISH Mount Olive, Oct. 20, 1869.

I intend using the same books in my school as those used in the Common Schools. * * I am already using Monteith's Geographies.—JOHN D. JOHNSON, Yadkinville, Sept. 26, 1869.

I am and have ever been an earnest advocate of uniformity in school books. The Board recommendations—Arithmetics and Geographies—are the best that could have been made.—H. E. SMITH, Lincolnton, Sept. 28th, 1869.

Because these books are adopted by the State Board, as well as for the merits of the books themselves, we wish to introduce them, and use them exclusively in our school.—Rev. S. C. ALEXANDER, Charlotte, Oct. 11, 1869.

Steele's "Nat. Philosophy" received. Am struck with its superiority to the other in many respects. As a class is waiting, substitute in my order Steele's Philosophy for an introduction.—G. W. JEWETT, Wilmington, Oct. 13, 1869.

Davies' Mathematics was adopted by me in 1858, and up to this time I have examined no work superior to them. I have examined McNally's Geography and Peck's Ganot's Natural Philosophy. I consider them most excellent works and shall put them into my boys' hands at the earliest period.—J. R. DUDGEN, Prin. Male Academy, Warrenton.

It is my purpose to introduce Monteith's (No. 4) into my school. I give it the preference for the information which it gives on the subject of Physical Geography. The maps and questions in both works (Monteith and McNally) seem to me to be admirable.—Rev. ALDERT REEDER D.D., Rector of St. Mary's, Raleigh.

Davies' Arithmetics, Monteith's Geographies and the National Readers are too well known to require a word from me. Monteith and Davies are the best that I am acquainted with.—PROF. FRANK VAUGHAN, Elizabeth City, Oct. 11, 1869.

I have waited patiently for the adoption by the Board of Education of this State of the books to be used in the public schools, and am much pleased to find that so many have been selected from the National Series.—Rev. W. L. MILLER, Charlotte, Oct. 1, 1869.

Am much pleased with both the Spellers and all the readers; and as to the Series of Geographies, I have long used no others when these could be obtained.—DR. WM. B. HARREL, Prin. High School, Snow Hill.

The introduction of so much valuable matter on the subjects of Physical Geography and Geology, and in a form so simple and intelligible makes it, (Monteith's Intermediate Geography) in my judgment, a charming school book.—REV. WM BINGHAM, Prin. Bingham School.

I design introducing McNally's Geography and Davies' University Arithmetic.—DR. CLOSS, Prin. Durham Academy.

Will introduce the University Arithmetic next term. An admirable work.—M. L. LITTLE, Prin. Pleasant Hill Seminary, Newton.

Monteith's Geographies are excellent works, and I shall introduce them into my school.—REDMOND IVEY, Prin. Auburn Academy.

The superior and durable style of binding of your works is a very great recommendation, one with which I have long been favorably impressed.—Prof. WM. A. GRAHAM, late Hillsboro' Military Academy.

I have introduced your National Series of Readers. We find them to be excellent, just suited to our purpose. With Davies' Mathematical series we have been long familiar, and can find no good reason for changing them. In the Primary Department we have Monteith's Geographies.—Rev. G. D. BRANSOM, Prin. Female Seminary, Mount Pleasant.

The National Series of Readers and Spellers are the best with which I am acquainted. I shall henceforth use no others in my school. I use Davies. I consider his works incomparably superior in many respects. Monteith's Series afford a gradual but thorough and systematic progression.—Prof. JOS. H. FOX, President Stanton-burg Scientific High School.

I regard Monteith's Physical and Intermediate Geography as one of the best books of its kind. It has several points of superiority over most primary Geographies; Geography is here treated from the only true and rational standpoint, viz: of Geology and Physical Geography.—Prof. W. C. KERR, State Geologist of North Carolina.

Mr. Taylor Johnson Olive's Chapel, has introduced the National Readers, Monteith's Geographies, Davies Arithmetics, Clark's Grammars, etc.; Mr. John Franks, Grove P. O., has introduced the National Series throughout; Mr. W. A. Branch, New Hill P. O., uses the National Series throughout; Mr. Adolphus Rogers, Green Level P. O., uses the National Reader, Copy-Books, Monteith's Geographies, and Tora's Grammar; Mrs. Emma Baughan, Cary P. O., uses the National series; Mr. H. L. Olive, New Hill P. O., introduced Monteith's Geographies. There are now at least 250 pupils in Wake and Chatham counties who are daily using the National series of books, within my knowledge.—Prof. W. H. MERRETT, Chatham county, Sept. 14, 1869.

I am glad to learn that some of your books are to be introduced into our State Schools.—Prof. J. M. CALDWELL, Greensboro' High school, Oct. 23, 1869.

Distinguished Editors and Critics Praise Them.

This firm will allow no competition in the price of books published by them which are among the best in the State.—Statesville American, 1868.

Have a reputation for merit unsurpassed.—Statesville American, 1869.

Peculiarly adapted to supply the wants we have long felt.—Greensboro' Patriot.

Are excelled by none of the many used, and they are superior to most of them.—Newbern Journal of Commerce.

When we examine the bright pages of the National Series, and think how we groped along the dry and uninteresting "task" of our boyhood, we are constrained to be envious of the happy pupils of the present.—Wilmington Post.

The National Series has attained probably a higher reputation than any other complete series of School Books now in existence.—Wilmington Herald.

The Legislature of North Carolina.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, Nov. 16, 1869.

The Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock.

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Welker, Senator from Guilford.

The roll was called.

The President announced that a quorum was present and proceeded to address the Senate as follows, to-wit:

SENATORS:—The time appointed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly has arrived, and I am glad to see so many of you present at the beginning of the session.

I hope, gentlemen, that our past experience has better qualified each of us for the discharge of our respective duties, and that we have improved the occasion offered us, to counsel with our constituents and learn their wishes; that we will not be slow to undo whatever has been heretofore done amiss, and that we will be prompt to do, whatever in our judgment, will tend to benefit our people. We should let no false modesty, or fear of giving offence to personal friends, influence us to do what our consciences disapprove; nor should we permit the assaults of those who revile, to deter us from doing that which we do approve. It is the duty of a patriot to do right, regardless of the blandishments of friends or the frown of foes. Let us then put far from us all party jealousies and petty bickerings, and unite as a band of brothers in our determined efforts to elevate our State; to guard her honor, and to preserve her credit both at home and abroad; and may the finger of scorn and the mock of derision, forever follow any unworthy son who shall do, or attempt aught, which can dishonor our name or throw a stigma upon the inheritance bequeathed us by our fathers. Let the doctrine of repudiation, either of public or private obligations, be forever scouted from this hall; and may the plighted faith of our State and of all her people, be like the chastity of a pure woman, above suspicion.

Senators, since our first organization, this body has been sorely afflicted by the hand of death, a Hall, a Rich and a Wynne, men whom their constituents delighted to honor, have passed away; and the green sod, bedewed by the tears of relatives and friends, marks their last resting place. Since our last parting another noble spirit, a friend who had endeared himself to us by his genial disposition, by his manly bearing and by his frank and generous soul, has been removed from our midst. Yes, Senators, the good and the gifted Osborne has fallen a victim to death's insatiate greed, and the places of earth which have heretofore known him, shall know him no more forever. A faithful public servant, a christian gentleman in whom was no guile, and an upright man who had filled many places of responsibility and honor, adorning them all, has been stricken down in the midst of his usefulness, he leaves behind him a reputation of which his family and friends may well be proud, and a memory whose fragrance will pervade the State long after the ivy shall have matted over, and the roses, planted by the hand of affection shall have bloomed and shed their blossoms upon his tomb. May we emulate his example and strive to be ready for the call of the "grim mouster" when ever the summons shall come. Senators, we have great cause of gratitude to God for the generous manner in which the kindly earth has yielded her products to the thrifty husbandman; wherever man has performed his duty his labors have been rewarded, and his horn of plenty has been filled to overflowing; then let those of us who have been thus blest remember, that it is our duty to dispense with a liberal hand to the destitute and needy, and to relieve as far as we can, the sufferings of those who from misfortune or affliction have been unable to provide for themselves.

And now, Senators, I again throw myself upon your indulgence and seek your aid and co-operation while as your presiding officer I endeavor to discharge my duties with fidelity and impartiality.

Mr. Robbins presented the credentials of H. C. Jones, Senator elect from the 30th District.

On motion of A. H. Galloway, colored, the Senator came forward and was duly qualified.

On motion of Mr. Respass, a message was sent to the House informing that body of the organization of the Senate and signifying its readiness to proceed to business.

On motion of Mr. Lassiter, the use of the Senate Chamber was granted to the Trustees of the University this evening at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Respass moved that the Senate proceed at once to the election of an Engrossing Clerk to fill a vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Rich.

On motion of A. H. Galloway, colored, its consideration was postponed until to-morrow.

A message was received from the House informing the Senate of its organization.

On motion of Mr. Brogden, a message was sent to the House proposing to raise a Joint Committee to wait upon the Governor and inform him of the organization of the General Assembly and to signify their readiness to receive any communication from him.

The President appointed Messrs. Brogden and Graham as the Senate branch of the Committee.

The Speaker announced that he had received the resignation of Edgar Miller, Principal Doorkeeper of the House to take effect on the 22d inst.

A message was received from the Senate announcing their organization and readiness to proceed to the transaction of business, also proposing to raise a Joint Committee of five—two on the part of the Senate and three on the part of the House, to wait on the Governor, to receive any communication which he might have to make. After the lapse of a few minutes, Mr. Seymour reported that they had waited on His Excellency, and that he would communicate with the House in a few moments.

The message with the accompanying documents were ordered to be transferred to the Senate.

Mr. Seymour offered the following resolution:

Resolved, The Senate concurring, that the General Assembly, while recognizing the wisdom of the general policy of building up the State and developing its resources, by a judicious system of internal improvements, hereby declare it to be its opinion, that in view of the present depreciation of our State credit and the heavy burden of State taxation, any further increase of our public debt for purposes of Internal Improvements would be inexpedient and unwise.

Resolved, That not only good policy but common honesty demand that North Carolina should undertake no new pecuniary obligation until her ability to fully discharge those already incurred, shall have been demonstrated. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Seymour also offered the following joint resolutions in connection with the first.

Resolved, The Senate concurring, that in order to remove any and all doubts as to the disposition and purpose of North Carolina to meet and discharge all her legal and just obligations to her creditors, whether at home or abroad, it is hereby solemnly declared to be the sentiment of the General Assembly of said State, that honor and good faith as well as sound policy demand the payment of every dollar of the regularly contracted State debt that has recently been pronounced by our highest judicial tribunal in accordance with the true intent of the constitution of the State.

Resolved, That the decisions of the said Court is regarded as final and are conclusive not only as to the validity of the Special Tax Debt, but equally conclusive on the other hand that the bonds pronounced illegal and irregular by said Court have no binding force whatever.

Resolved, That North Carolina would regard the repudiation of a single dollar of her regular indebtedness as a violation of every principle of plighted faith and as one of the greatest misfortunes that could befall her people. Ordered to be printed.

By Mr. Pou, the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The time has only come when in the opinion of this General Assembly, absolute equality before the law ought to prevail among all the men of North Carolina without regard to race or to past political offences, therefore

Be it resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of North Carolina, that the Congress of the United States is respectfully requested to remove from all citizens of this State the political disabilities imposed by the 14th Amendment to the Federal constitution.

The Governor of this State is instructed to forward duly authenticated copies of this resolution severally to the Secretary of State of the United States, and to the presiding officers of each House of Congress.

After some little discussion the resolution was, on motion of Mr. Downing ordered to be printed.

By Mr. Malone, a resolution requiring the Public Treasurer to report the number of bonds issued to the various Railroad companies in accordance with the Legislation of the last General Assembly. Rules suspended and the resolution was adopted and ordered to be engrossed and sent to the Senate.

By Mr. Ingram a resolution in relation to the removal of all political disabilities. Lies over.

By Mr. Malone, a bill to require all Justices of the Peace and Clerks of Townships to give bond, ordered to be printed and referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. Graham said:

MR. PRESIDENT:—Since the adjournment of this body our friend and late fellow member, Hon. J. W. Osborne has been removed by the hand of death from earth. Although I had heard of his failing health, I still trusted that recreation and travel would soon restore his wonted energies, and the information of his decease came as an unexpected shock, reminding us of the uncertainty of life and the mysterious doings of that Providence which often shows the vanity of human expectations by taking from us those around whom our affections are most strongly centered. An intimate friend and pleasant associate he had always been to me since my connection with this body. His warm heart and genial face are among the most pleasant recollections of the last session—and now when his form will no more be seen and his voice forever hushed in these halls, memory sadly turns to the noble example, which he gave us of the earnest discharge of the duties of his station, and we trust it may still influence our conduct for good by the thought of his courteous bearing as a Senator and his high aspirations for the best interests of North Carolina. Judge Osborne was of an ancient North Carolina family; his great grand father, Alexander Osborne, was a native of New Jersey, having settled in that part of the county of Rowan (now Iredell) known as the congregation of Centre in the neighborhood of Mount Mourn, as early as 1755, and commanded a regiment of the militia of the county in the war of the Regulation. His grand father Adlai Osborne, a son of Alexander, was a graduate of Nassau Hall, Princeton College in 1768, and practised the law with success in the Western District Courts of his day. His father, the late Edwin Ivy Osborne, was educated at the University of North Carolina, and was also a lawyer; a man of genius and of culture and of most attractive manners and conversation. Descended from these men and inheriting a taste for letters, and a predilection for the Law, Judge Osborne, after completing his course at the University of the State, entered upon its study and soon rose to eminence in his profession. Of his career it is not necessary that I should speak. His active exertions and eloquent appeals in favor of the building of the Charlotte and South Carolina Railroad will long be gratefully remembered through the section which has been so much benefited by its completion. His services were always freely given to the party of his choice, and through heated canvasses as a Presidential Elector and candidate for Congress, has he gallantly borne its standard—as a Judge of our Superior Court he graced the Bench, with dignity and learning, and was ever firm in his administration of Justice, and fearless in his protection of the rights of the citizen. As a Senator he labored diligently to promote the welfare of our people, and to preserve those laws which experience had shown to be well adapted to our condition, and conducive to the morality and integrity which attached to the name of our State. As a christian he abounded in charity and good will to all. Here his labors and cares are ended. His spirit has returned to the God who gave it, and has, as we hope, found rest in the place prepared for those who have laid up treasure in Heaven. As a tribute to his memory I offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Senate has received with deep sensibility the intelligence of the death of the Hon. James W. Osborne, late a Senator from the County of Mecklenburg which took place at his residence in Charlotte, since the adjournment of this body, in August last.

Resolved, That in token of their respect for the memory of the deceased the members of the Senate will wear crape on the left arm as mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be communicated to the House of Representatives and that as a further mark of respect the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. Lassiter said:

MR. PRESIDENT:—Since last we met in this Chamber, death has taken away one of our most loved and honored associates.—The seat of the Senator from Mecklenburg is vacant; James W. Osborne is dead. Months ago the news flashed through the State, that Judge Osborne was dead, and we felt that a great and a good man had been taken from us in an hour when he was most needed. We of the Senate, looked forward with pain to this day, when we should meet together again, to find one of our number gone to that "undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns." And, now, when that day has come, the sad reality is still more painfully impressed upon us, for the kindly face, with its pleasant smile, which we ever expected, is absent, and forever.

I have known Judge Osborne for many years, but it was not until since the war that intimate acquaintance, and, I may say, friendship, unfolded to me his many admirable qualities, qualities that made him a man among men. During the last session of the General Assembly, we were together much and often worked in the same way for the good of the State. Then, more than ever before, was revealed to me his uncommon talent, and that rectitude of purpose which ever kept his genius subordinate to his sense of right. Then, too, were revealed his rare gifts of friendliness, geniality and wit; and then commenced a friendship which was never broken. The genial disposition and unwavering courtesy of Judge Osborne were distinguished characteristics in him, and were remarked by all with whom he came in contact.—On first acquaintance his moderation and kindness would gain him friendship and favor, and when his high talents and many good qualities of heart and mind were discovered, he invariably won esteem and good will.

As a Legislator, he was a model man and his example has done much to benefit all of us. In debate, he was courteous and never condescended to personalities. His keen wit was not spiced by malice, and never rankled even where it was most felt. His fairness and frankness in argument were admitted by all. His moderation was great, and was an honor to him, to the mind which held so evenly the scales of justice, unmoved by the efforts of prejudice or passion. By reason of these acknowleged qualities he exercised a greater influence than any other member of his political party, and often members would do as he requested them, because they knew his integrity of purpose and his goodness of heart.

But he is dead, and we shall never again feel the warm and friendly clasp of his hand, nor hear the cheering salutation that sprang from his warm heart. But though and often will kindly memories of our departed friend pass through our minds, reminding us of him who is dead, and, it may be, making us feel better and kinder towards the living.

"Cold in the dust the perished form may lie,
That which warmed it once can never die,"

His afflicted family, to whom he must have been the object of the warmest affection, have the consolation of knowing that he is now enjoying that reward with which God, in his infinite goodness, crowns the end of a good and well spent life.

Though he has gone from us at a time when his talent, his kindness and his integrity of purpose were most needed, let us endeavor to profit by his example, and perform our allotted tasks in such a manner as may most conduce to the benefit of our State. Let us remember his moderation and be moderate in our actions, striving to do even and exact justice to all men. Let us remember his kindly disposition, and strive to be more charitable to each other and more patient to those whose views may not accord with our own.

And there is one other thing which we should not neglect to notice—the many deaths which have occurred in this body within the past year. This should remind us of the uncertainty of life, and cause us to prepare for the summons which is sure to come for ourselves. Let us so live that when the summons come we may be able to go, feeling that we have left no duty undone, and that we have "fought the good fight and have kept the faith."

Mr. Robbins said:

MR. PRESIDENT:—A large number of distinguished men have died this year.—Among them are an Ex Premier of Great Britain, an Archbishop in Ireland, and a Grand Marshal and Minister of War in France. England and America are, at this moment, paying funeral obsequies to their great Philanthropist. In our own country Fessenden is gone, and Bell, and Walker, and Rawlins, and Pierce, with Wool, our oldest General, and Stewart, our oldest Admiral. In North Carolina a distinguished and patriotic Ex-Governor has passed away.

To-day we are called upon to mark on the mournful list of noble victims, gone down to mother Earth, the name of one who not only occupied a conspicuous place here as a member of this Assembly, but a place also in the sincere affections of every one of us. Among all the noted men to whose recent deaths I have alluded, while some enjoyed a wider fame, few were more highly gifted in intellect, and not one could have possessed a truer, tenderer, warmer and purer heart than our lamented friend Judge Osborne, the late Senator from Mecklenburg.

The thought that we shall see him no more, stirs up within me such feelings of profound grief that I cannot attempt any extended remarks or any adequate portraiture of his exemplary character as a man and citizen. Indeed, only such noble eloquence as he himself possessed, could do justice to his merits or pronounce a fitting eulogy upon him. The least and worthiest tribute which we can pay him is the tribute of our tears.

His varied talents, as well as his peculiarly urbane and pleasing manners, qualified him to fill high positions of honor and usefulness, and to win a wide-spread popularity, among his fellow citizens. Nor were the lavish gifts of nature thrown away on him.

In his profession he attained distinction and attracted the admiration and esteem of his brethren of the Bar. Elevated to the Bench, his learning, his dignity, his suavity, and his purity, graced the ermine which he wore, and entitled him to a lofty place among the many peerless names that have won a world-wide renown for the Judiciary of North Carolina. As a member of our Legislative Assembly, the gentlemen who sit around me are witnesses to his liberal and large minded views on all questions of public policy; and if we sometimes failed to coincide with him in opinion, we all respect the sincerity of his convictions, and admired the persuasive eloquence with which he enforced them.

An ornament to every public station which he filled, he was no less brilliant and delightful in the social circle and in the retired walks of private life. He was distinguished for his gentle and polished demeanor, for his qualities as a pleasing and entertaining companion, for his gentility, his guilelessness, and the warmth of his friendship. The philosopher has said that "knowledge is power." Our lamented comrade illustrated in his life the still higher truth—that love is power. The influence which he wielded by his high talents was doubled by the effect of his winning manners and his kindly heart. And it is no less true that the benevolent and loving temper, which was so marked a trait in his character and which often gave him such power over others, was sometimes almost too strong even for himself; and if he had a fault on earth, it was the amiable fault of granting sometimes to the pleadings of his heart that which his judgment scarcely approved.

Such a man could not fail to be loved, and Senator Osborne has gone down to the grave leaving hosts of friends and not one enemy behind him. The man who could have hated him would have dishonored himself. Who of us can ever forget his silvery tongue, his musical voice, his beaming countenance, so lighted up with intelligence, so full of sunshine and smiles, of benevolence and good nature?

It is sad to think that so much of greatness and excellence is gone from this world forever. But as we mourn over his tomb, oh! how pleasing it is to recollect that Senator Osborne was a christian, and to feel assured that the friend, so noble and so free from guile, whom we miss here to-day, has been translated from these earthly courts to the glorious presence-chamber of the King of kings. May we imitate his virtues that we may meet a like peaceful death and share in his celestial joy and glory!

Mr. Jones said:

MR. PRESIDENT:—While the Senate pauses from its labors to do honor to the illustrious subject of these resolutions, while Senators of both parties are joining in generous and manly testimony to his exalted virtues and his eminent public services, I trust, Sir, that I may be indulged for a moment, while I add my feeble tribute to him who was my predecessor and my friend. But, Sir, as I approach the subject I feel how poorly the eloquence of mere words translate those feelings which are inspired by the contemplation of such a character. It was here, Mr. President, in this Hall, that his earthly labors closed, it was here that he rounded the crown of that monumental arch which he has built for himself in the hearts of the people of this State, it was here that his clarion voice was raised for the last time in eloquent appeal in behalf of the State he loved so well, and when its last echo died in these Halls, it was hushed forever, from the day he left this Hall his life was a patient waiting for the coming of that hour for which his whole life had been a continual preparation. It is rarely, Mr. President, that a man whose name has been so much upon the lips of men, who has mingled so much in the fierce political struggles of a distracted period, is mentioned with that heartfelt affection which has found utterance on this floor at the mention of the name of Judge Osborne. An original and comprehensive mind, fruitful of ideas, decided in conviction, and firm and fervent in their advocacy, rarely fails in securing the animosity of its opponents. That it was not so in the case of him of whom we speak, was due to that inate nobleness of soul, that ever distinguished an opponent from a foe, and which, while it fearlessly condemned an error, could do justice to the motives of its author, and I hazard but little when I say that throughout his whole life he never offered a wanton wound to the feelings of any human being, the more humble and defenceless the individual the more sacred in his view were his rights and his feelings.

No where Mr. President was this more conspicuous than in his deportment towards the younger members of the profession to which he belonged. To them he was ever as an elder brother, kind and considerate, and I myself remember with a grateful heart the many instances in which he tempered the mortification of defeat with words of kindly commendation and encouragement. The consequence was Mr. President, that his juniors at the bar gathered about him with feelings of almost filial reverence. To them he was ever the type of the chivalrous lawyer; he revived in them the memories of an Erskin and recalled by his fervid and flowing oratory the recollections of those giants of the Irish bar in the days of its greatest splendor, and when they bore him to his last resting place it was with the feeling that they had parted with one whose character it was a privilege to have studied and whose virtues it were well for them to imitate. The truth is Mr. President, that in the composition of such a man there could be nothing small, his aspirations like the flight of the eagle, were ever upward, and towards the sun; and it he touched the earth it was not to be contaminated but like the fabled Giant of antiquity it was only to gather renewed strength. But his intellect was no less conspicuous than his virtue. Possessed of a remarkably quick and accurate perception a power of rapid analysis and an inconceivable grace of manner, a faultless style and enthusiastic nature, it is difficult to fix a limit to what he might have achieved had his soul once felt the transforming power of a worldly ambition. With such a stimulous had he lived in the days of the great coalition he would have won for himself a resting place between a Fox and a Pitt within the sacred precincts of Westminister Abbey. But modesty was with him a characteristic and his declining years had but one absorbing hope, the hope that he might live to behold the State he loved so well rescued from the difficulties that beset her, the cannon ruts in her soil covered with the harvest and the wounds in the hearts of her people forever healed, and then amid the prosperity of her people to lay himself down in the genial sunlight of perpetual peace and there in the green pastures beside the still waters to breathe out his spirit at the summons of his God. But Mr. President this was not vouchsafed him. Our beacon was extinguished while the vessel was still out-side the bar, breasting the storm with timbers strained, but Sir, I trust that his example will not be forgotten in this hall, and that if any Senator should forget in the heat of discussion, or in the pride of opinion that he is a citizen of North Carolina, and should for a moment sink the patriot in the partizan, that the memory of our dead Osborne, will be here to remind him of his duty and his allegiance. But I can say no more. The golden tongue is silent, those utterances that were wont to thrill us like the rich chords of a harp will be heard no more on earth, and those of us who cannot fill the measure of his usefulness may yet feebly strive to emulate his virtues.

Mr. Hayes said:

MR. PRESIDENT:—I arise to add my mite to the words of respect and esteem which have to day been said in memory of our departed friend and fellow Senator James W. Osborne. My acquaintance with him though brief, was of such a nature as to impress me with his sterling character as a man, and courteous and chivalric nature as a political opponent.

Older than the larger part of the Senate his years added weight to the influence given him by his brilliant talents, and many times has swayed the Senate to accept his views when other motives counseled a different course.

His keen wit was always kindly and was never used to wound but to give pleasure. His long forensic and legal experience, made him the acknowledged leader of his party and to some extent of the Senate. This influence he never abused, but used to attain ends which he believed to be for the greatest good of the State. His genial manners and warm heart made every man his personal friend, and it is safe to say that notwithstanding the heat of political contests during the two last sessions Mr. Osborne had not an enemy.

This last characteristic is rare, and is also still more rare, was the highest tribute to his character as a man, his loyalty as a friend and his courtesy as an opponent. Associated as we were in the Senate, we often differed upon questions, and sometimes debate was warm and determined, but after the labors of the day were at an end, and we would reason with each other upon the questions under discussion, the same kindly feeling as before always actuated him and no tinge of personal bitterness ever marred his actions. Thus it was that many of his political opponents, while firm in their own convictions of right, and steadfast in the course, faction suggested to them by those convictions, yielded as much as possible to his opinions, knowing that they were dictated by his idea of right. No one ever believed him to do otherwise than that which he believed to be right, and this good opinion he deserved and won by his upright course, not only here but in every relation of life. Therefore it is now a sad pleasure to me to be able to add my feeble testimony to that of those who have preceded me. Although months have elapsed since we have met here together and the grass now waves over his grave—the meeting here of those who were his associates, but the more strongly brings the absent to mind and that vacant chair seems to but wait his coming.

Yet will he come no more forever. We who have met here with him so often will never meet him again until that day when the sea and the land shall give up their dead, and there shall be no dead but all shall be together before their maker.

This is the last tribute we shall ever be allowed to pay the memory of our departed friend.

Life is short and the living demand the time we can would give the dead; one day to pay the last tribute to him we loved; and the unrelenting demands of life will again devote us to the business of the world.

But he will not be forgotten. His memory will live green within our hearts and may it incite us to be nobler and better.

Mr. Brogden followed in a short but touching eulogy.

On motion of Mr. Bowman it was agreed that when the Senate adjourned it stand adjourned until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

The question recurring on Mr. Graham's resolutions, they were unanimously adopted.

CALENDAR.

Mr. Seymour's resolution maintaining the honor and credit of the State, and declaring the Public Debt inviolate, was taken up and read, when Mr. Durham moved to postpone for two weeks.

Mr. Downing opposed the motion, he thought it was the time and that it was necessary that a solemn pledge should be given that every dollar of the debt should be paid. He did not see why the House should not vote upon the resolution to-day.

Mr. Pou said he objected to the resolution and would favor a delay of a few days—say until Friday next.

After some little debate, Mr. Durham withdrew his motion and the resolution was postponed until Friday.

A message was received from the Senate transmitting resolutions in reference to Judge Osborne's death. (See Senate proceedings.)

Mr. Whitley moved to adopt the resolutions, and said, that after gentlemen had said what they wished, he would move an adjournment until Friday 11 o'clock.

Mr. Whitley then proceeded to pay an eloquent and touching tribute to the memory of the deceased Senator. He said he had known Judge Osborne, from his earliest boyhood, and all that knew him best, loved him most. He had read with a great degree of satisfaction, the appropriate and eloquent eulogy pronounced yesterday in the Senate by Lt. Gov. Caldwell, upon the life and character of their departed friend and heartily endorsed every utterance of it.

Mr. Seymour next spoke in the same strain for a short time.

Mr. Gatling arose and said:

When the sombre angel of death snatches his victim from our midst, the clash of political strife may well be stilled. We surely can spare a moment from our jealousies to the lament of the good and the great, and as we stand appalled at his bier to call to mind the many excellencies which marked a life given to others, forgetting the few faults, if any there were, which only gave background to the character.

A message from the other House of this assembly informs us of the death of an honorable member of that body, the late J. W. Osborne, who shared with us in the deliberations of last winter, and who left us at the close of that session with the promises of, and our best wishes for a long life of continued usefulness. But smitten in the ripeness of life a seat is vacant which cannot easily be filled and counsels are lost to the State that can ill be spared.

As a member of the Bar, his memory is cherished by his associates, as presenting a noble example of that high toned courtesy, that gentle and considerate urbanity, and scholarly accomplishment, which we so proudly claim to be the "attributes" of our profession.

As an occupant of the Bench, impartial and fearless, justice found its embodiment in his rulings and his judicial decisions were ever heard with the profound respect which is only accorded to legal erudition.

In political life, while entertaining the most clearly defined opinions and adhering to them with unswerving consistency, and while characterized by earnest candor in their advocacy, he ever exhibited that moderation in his intercourse with his opponents which is the child of genuine politeness. Sincere patriotism gave honesty to his views, and eloquence to his expression; and with honesty to conciliate prejudice, and bewitching eloquence to charm the senses, he never failed to command attention and interest upon the floor of these Halls.

As a member of society the loss is most severely felt, general amenity and the sunshine of a kindly, unselfish nature, spread over his character a light which penetrated to the heart and fell like a soft influence on the most rugged dispositions. In his face the gentleman was so fairly writ, that confidence breathed from his presence, and trust sprung involuntarily to meet him,—The christian charity, so beautifully set forth by St. Paul, was typified in his life, and endeared him to hearts which now bleed for his loss.

Yes! Mr. Speaker—he is lost! lost to his family—lost to us, and more than lost to his State.

From his enemies, if any there be, we ask but justice. To his family we extend our sympathy and condolence, and his memory be generous tears.

Messrs. Durham, Pou, Ingram, Ellington and Malone followed in eulogy, each making short, but tender and touching remarks.

On motion the resolutions were adopted.

On motion of Mr Whitley the House adjourned until Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

THE UTLEY

COTTON PRESS.

A NEW combination of power, whereby all friction is overcome. The simplicity, economy and durability of this PRESS astonishes all who see it, and the more so that a power so simple should so long have been unappropriated. With this Press, two men can do all the packing or pressing of a 500 pound bale inside of eight minutes: and it can be readily taken down and transported, as it is simple and light. We can supply these Presses cheaper than any yet offered to the Planter. Will send circulars to any desiring, and we would advise all persons wanting presses to withhold buying until they examine this.

THE PRESSES are now being manufactured at the SASH AND BLIND FACTORY OF THOS. H. BRIGGS. All are assured that as between this and any other there is no argument as to its merits over all others. With the irons, any ordinary workman can put the same up. The patentee is here for a few days, and will take pleasure in explaining its merits. Address T. H. BRIGGS sept 10-tf Raleigh.

ALL THE SURPLUS OF THE COMPANY DIVIDED AMONG THE ASSURED.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED AND PAID ANNUALLY ON THE CONTRIBUTION PLAN.

ALL POLICIES (AFTER TWO FULL PAYMENTS) NON-FORFEITABLE, AND SO EXPRESSED ON EACH POLICY.

No Restrictions as to Residence and Travel in the United States,

RATES LOWER THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY THAT PAYS DIVIDENDS TO POLICY-HOLDERS.

IT ISSUES ALL THE VARIOUS FORMS OF LIFE AND ENDOWMENT POLICIES.

LOSSES PAID PROMPTLY IN CASH.

LIST OF LOSSES ACTUALLY PAID BY THE ÆTNA LIFE INS. CO., AT THE BRANCH OFFICE, IN RALEIGH, BY THE HANDS OF W. H. CROW, GENERAL MANAGER OF THE STATE AND PART OF VA.

And $5,000 ready to pay a loss of No. 34,161, so soon as the party authorized to receive the money appears.

The Company has been well tested throughout the State, as to its promptness in paying her losses, reliability, &c.

DIVIDENDS PAID AT THE END OF THE FIRST YEAR, AND ANNUALLY THEREAFTER.

Its ratio of expense to income is extremely low. This may be seen by reference to the Official Reports for 1868. For example:

EXPENSE ON THE $100 RECEIVED.

Knickerbocker,	$16,84
Equitable,	17,44
North America,	21,16
Brooklyn,	21,69
Universal,	27,24
John Hancock,	18,27
The National,	13,48
The Ætna,	13,41

It has an IMPORTANT NEW FEATURE that has been copy-righted. According to this plan the rates are MUCH LOWER than in any other Company in the world.

Its ratio of Mortality, is low. Its rates are very low. Its expenses are very low. Its dividends are large.

It insured more lives in the City of New York in 1868, than any other Company, except one. It insured more Policies in the United States than any other save one. It insured more lives in Canada than any other Company, British or American.

See what the HIGHEST INSURANCE AUTHORITY in this country says. In the June number of the Insurance Times, of New York, the following opinion was expressed:

"If there is any great benefit in mutual association, any great advantage to be derived from scientific organization and a chartered source, tending to mitigate the sufferings, lessen the privations, and add to the peace, security, and happiness of humanity, we are prepared to show that these blessings flow, in all their fullness and purity, from this excellent, powerful, and flourishing Company, the ÆTNA LIFE, of Hartford."

"No institution has brought more prompt, full, and grateful relief to the hearths of the bereaved and desolate, and none has been more uniformly distinguished for the enterprise, wisdom, and equitable liberality with which it has fulfilled the purposes of its formation."

"Its success has been almost unbounded and beyond all precedent. Eight years ago, in 1861, it issued only 589 policies, received an income of seventy-eight thousand dollars, and possessed net assets summing up to something over two hundred and eighty-one thousand dollars; but last year, 1868, it granted 13 237 new policies, more than any other Company except the Mutual Life; received an income exceeding six million dollars, and had amassed solid, securely and profitably invested nett assets amounting to over Ten Million Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars. And this wonderful ratio of growth has been sustained in 1869."
